

Thoughts on Heaven.

No sickness there,—
No weary wasting of the frame away,
No fearful shrinking from the midnight air,
No dread of summers' hot and fervid ray.

No hidden grief,—
No wild and cheerless vision of despair,
No vain petition for a swift relief,
No tearful eyes, no broken hearts are there.

Care has no home
In all the realms of ceaseless prayer and song!
Its bidows break away and melt in foam
Far from the mansions of the spirit throng.

The storm's black wing
Is never spread althwart celestial skies!
Its waitings blend not with the voice of spring,
As some too tender flower fades and dies!

No night distils
Its chilling dews upon the tender frame:
No moon is needed there! The light which fills
That land of glory from its Maker came!

No parted friends
O'er mournful recollections have to weep!
No bed of death enduring love attends
To watch the coming of a pulseless sleep.

No blasted flower
Or withered bud celestial gardens know!
No scorching blast or fierce descending shower
Scatters destruction like a ruthless foe!

No battle word
Startles the sacred host with fear and dread!
The song of peace Creation's morning heard
Is sung wherever angel minstrels tread!

Let us depart
If scenes like this await the weary soul!
Look up thou stricken one! Thy wounded heart
Shall bleed no more at sorrow's stern control.

With faith our guide,
Whie-robed and innocent to lead the way,
Why fear to plunge in Jordan's rolling tide
And find the ocean of eternal day!

Ruth.

She stood breast-high amid the corn,
Clasped by the golden light of morn,
Like the sweet-heart of the sun,
Who many a glowing kiss had won.

On her cheek an autumn flush,
Deep y ripe'd;—such a blush
In the midst of brown was born,
Like red poppies grown with corn.

Round her eyes her tresses fell,
Which were blackest none could tell;
But long lashes veil'd a light
That had else been all too bright.

And her hat with shady brim,
Made her tressy forehead dim;
Thus she stood amid the stooks
Praising God with sweetest looks.

Sure, I said, heav'n did not mean,
Where I reapthou shouldst but glean;
Lay thy sheaf down and come,
Share my harvest and my home. [Hoon.

APPEARANCES.—Appearances are very deceptive! One would think that the gentleman who had just passed by, was the pink of goodness—so polite and smiling. Far from this, he is a hard-hearted scoundrel, if we may judge from his actions. When a poor man is in his power, he oppresses him; he wrenches the last farthing from the hand of the widow, and drives the orphan, cold and destitute, from his door. And yet, what hypocrisy! he pretends morning and evening to offer prayers to the God of heaven. Astonishing mockery! No one is more devout in the conference room, or offers more feeling prayers.—The bible is at his tongue's end. Who would think a man that appears so well could be a hypocrite and a villain?—Shakspeare had a good understanding of human nature. Here is a quotation so apt, that we must recite it:

"The devil can cite scripture for his purpose;
An evil soul, producing holy witness,
Is like a villain with a smiling cheek;
A good y apple, rotten at the heart;
Oh, what a goodly outside fa school hath!"

QUESTIONS IN SURGERY.—Do wounds often heal by the "first intention?" Not when the patient is rich and the surgeon is poor. When does mortification ensue? When you "pop the question," and are answered "No."

"Love is the shadow of the morning,
which decreases as the day advances.—
Friendship is the shadow of the evening, which strengthens with the setting sun of life." "What shadows we are, and what shadows we pursue!"

"SMALL thanks to you," said a plaintiff to one of his witnesses, "for what you said in this cause." "Ah, sir," said the conscientious witness, "but just think of what I didn't say."

If after death men could know what was said on earth, they would be astonished to learn how much they were respected and esteemed.

Sinners should not enter a printing office, for they might see the devil.

Storage! Storage!

THE subscriber respectfully informs the Merchants and Planters of Mississippi that he has built a large and commodious Wharf Boat, and is prepared to receive and forward all kinds of merchandise entrusted to his care.

The public must be aware that it often happens for boats to arrive at night and discharge freight, principal y when bound up, and goods are in many instances damaged by being left in the rain or mud for hours before merchants can get drays to take them away. This difficulty is entirely removed with the subscriber, who receives the goods on his Boat from the Steamboats and keeps them there until called for by the owner. Persons visiting the city are invited to call and judge for themselves.

Charges for receiving and forwarding, ten cents per package only, without any extra charge for drayage or labor.

G. W. HARLOW, Agent.
Kosciusko, January, 1846 11f

PROSPECTUS

For publishing in the town of Kosciusko, Attala county, Miss., a weekly newspaper, to be entitled the

KOSCIUSKO CHRONICLE.

The United States of America is a great country—the State of Mississippi a great State—the county of Attala a great county—and the Town of Kosciusko, no doubt, would be a great Town, was it not for the simple facts that the seat of government has not yet been removed to said town—that Big Black has not yet been cleared out, so that steam-boats can navigate it up to a point opposite said town—that the Jackson Railroad has not yet been extended on, through Canton, to said town—and more particularly, that at this time there is no newspaper published in said town, through which these projects can be laid before this great people. Now, it is a well established fact, beyond the point of contradiction, that we are a great people who live in this great country—State—county—and that we expect great works to be accomplished some time or other, by somebody or other, or somebody else, and that Kosciusko would be a great place if these great improvements were but just completed, thereby bringing it, as it were, within a stone's throw of the East Indies, Australia, China, Siberia, Greenland, Kamtschaka and the North Pole.

Therefore, be it known to all men, women, children and grasshoppers, that the subscriber, in order to facilitate these great undertakings, and prevent their being nipped in the bud, and more particularly to turn an honest penny for himself, proposes to commence the publication of a little newspaper in said town, on Saturday, the third day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty six, to be styled the Kosciusko Chronicle, and to continue to publish said paper weekly, until these great objects shall be accomplished, should the Lord be pleased to spare his life so long, and he be willing to continue in the business that long; and if not him, then to have it done by somebody else after him. The subscriber being a strong believer in the doctrines promulgated by the immaculate Harry of the West and the Godlike Daniel of the East, it might be surmised by the knowing ones that the paper will be whiggishly inclined; but be this as it may, he will not at this time contradict it.

TERMS.—Two Dollars per annum in advance.
